

Your Story on Earth

Based on This Small Blue Dot by Zeno Sworder

In this story, a young girl welcomes her baby brother or sister to Earth. She explains that no matter where we are from, we all share this special blue dot. What do you add to our story here on Earth?

What does Zeno Sworder use to create his illustrations? Using only lead pencil, sketch a drawing of yourself under the speech bubble. In the bubble, use crayons to add colourful drawings of what is important to you, in your part of the world.

Zeno Sworder says 'Mother Nature' has given life to some amazing things on Earth.
Draw an amazing thing that 'Mother Nature' has made on Earth.
Compare your class images.

The author writes about becoming a 'new explorer, a new dreamer, a new caretaker of this small blue dot' and asks – 'What will you add to our story?'

Write a description of how you look after our planet Earth.
